

JAMES HOLLINGSWORTH

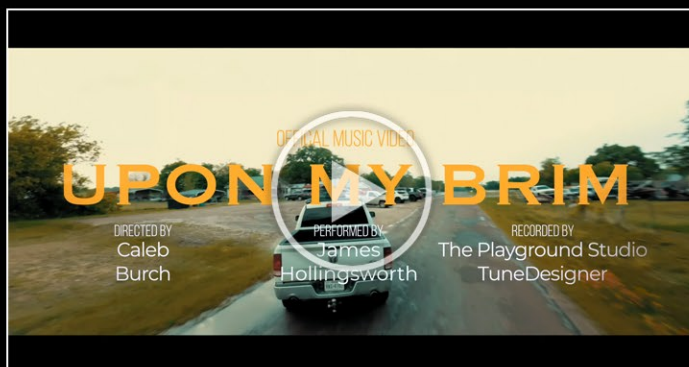

“Riveting, powerful and deep,” best describe James Hollingsworth, both lyrically and vocally. With musical roots in Texas Swing and the Blues, James seamlessly blends the old with the new to create something unique in Country music. With eight years of classical and jazz experience, James came into his own style of playing, nurturing the seeds of his past to bear the fruit of his present work.

Taking a few initial steps away from hard-tack orchestral bands, James began to play his own music in local honky tonks for some extra cash, learning quickly that being independent did not include heaps of gas money and that there are no shortcuts to success as a Country troubadour. So why continue? With each solo performance, James found that not only did he feel more at home in front of a rag-tag, down-home crowd, but that audiences was becoming increasingly interested in his songwriting. Fans began pushing him for more original material and for bigger shows.

In October 2022, James released his first single titled “Trouble,” and in the spring of 2023, his first charted single “Upon My Brim,” complete with accompanying music video.

With a fire in his belly and perhaps nothing more to gain but the joy of performing live, James enlisted a phenomenal band of pro musicians for a road show that audiences can not long forget. Performing regularly around Waco for the last few years and now working his way farther afield with each passing month, James is finding traction on the Texas music scene, with recent appearances on 9.29 Shooter FM’s Acoustic Lunch and as a recurring guest at the Texas Music Cafe. New and bigger things are on the horizon for this bright, young man. Don’t miss your chance to catch his show!
